DS60 Roofing & Siding is a family-owned-and-grown company. In 2012, founder Bonnie Bigras, after coming out of retirement, wanted to help her son Garry by providing him a safe place for him to work.

Garry was very bright, but ongoing struggles with personal issues eventually made him unable to continue working. Bonnie decided to rebrand the company and incorporate it. She partnered with Dennis Jee and the company DS60 Roofing & Siding was born. Garry and his friend built the lawn sign that's displayed in front of the business, which has now become a permanent part of the company's image. Garry passed away two years ago, but his loss didn't stop Bonnie from moving forward with DS60.

"I came out of retirement twice," she says. "When people ask, why the heck would you do that, I just smile and say why not? I love the challenge and the people, and have surrounded myself with a really good staff"

DS60 provides roofing, siding and renovations for residential, commercial and industrial clients. With over 120 years of experience combined, they have seen products come and go and know what works. They believe simplicity is evidence of the most advanced thinking.

Jim Williams of RE/MAX says, "DS60 is a great company to work with. I find them very experienced and knowledgeable about roofing. The team is responsive in quoting on a project, visiting the job site, and getting the work done and done well. I recommend DS60 when I can."

Bonnie, born-and-raised in Windsor, has 24 employees that are pleasant to their clients and do a great job. As per her family policy, Bonnie offers her employees a living wage, benefit packages and even gives them vegetables from her organic garden—giving true meaning to "family" within DS60. Taking care of her employees and clients is top of her priority list.

So what does DS60 offer that competitors don't?

Bonnie Clean.

"I've been in the trades my whole life, and there's always a mess left behind," says Bonnie.

"I'm a clean person and believe in leaving a job site just as clean if not better than when we started, so we've created this separate aspect of the company. My grandchildren and other university students come and do a final clean-up once the job is complete. It's comforting for the client to know that we're going to do a twice-over with the magnet and it's left spotless. Our Bonnie Clean staff provides that finishing touch that a woman appreciates."
